Friday, October 2, 2020

Webinar Begins 12:00 PM – Duration 1 hr. 15 min. to 1 hr. 30 min.

CMAA New England is thrilled to go virtual! We have worked hard to pull together a concise and exciting program that you can enjoy. We hope you will grab some lunch and join us as we celebrate our industries’ finest. And as always, proceeds from this event go directly to our collegiate scholarship fund!

As many of you know, CMAA - New England lost a valued member and a dear friend. Professor Mark Hasso was dedicated to CM students and Construction Management. Our chapter is honored to name our awards program in Mark’s memory, in this, our 26th year. Our program will feature an amazing video tribute to Mark for all that he has done for our industry.

Our Keynote Speaker, Retired Brig. Gen. Jack Hammond, executive director of the Home Base Program, a Red Sox Foundation and Massachusetts General Hospital program, led the build-out and operations Boston Hope. He will follow an incredible video presentation highlighting the Suffolk 7-day build out of the Boston Convention and Exhibition Center to become Boston Hope. He will address the behind the scenes back story of determining its need, key decision making and address the challenges and logistics to address the rest of the Boston Hope story.

We hope you join us. Each year, project teams take on the toughest challenges the New England Region can throw at them. From the design and engineering to the construction means and methods, all the players in this industry have a role to play to bring about the required solutions. CMAA New England wants to recognize this dedication and hard work by acknowledging the projects and the project teams that make it all happen.

Go to https://cmaa-ne.org/ to register! Each ticket will cost $30 and will required the attendee's e-mail address.
